Augmenting Health and Social Care Students' Clinical Learning Experiences Stephen Billett 2019-02-25 This edited volume offers a range of insights about, practices of and findings associated with enriching health and social care students' learning by their engagement in educational processes during and after the completion of their practicum experiences in health and social care settings. That is, using post-practicum intervention to augment and enrich those learning experiences. The collected contributions here draw on the processes of trialing and evaluating educational processes that aimed to enrich those practicum experiences for purposes of improving students' understandings, abilities to address patients' needs, and health and social care related dispositions. These processes and findings from these processes across medical, nursing, midwifery, physiotherapy, pharmacy, exercise physiology, dietetic and speech pathology education speak directly to educators in both clinical and educational settings in the health and social care sectors. These messages, which arise from educators and clinicians enacting and evaluating these interventions, offer practical suggestions as well as conceptual advances. The reach of the accounts of processes, findings and evaluations is not restricted to this sector alone, however. The lessons provided through this edited volume are intended to inform how post-practicum interventions might be enacted across a range of occupational fields.

Employee motivation in the care of the elderly. How can long-term employee retention be achieved? Jessica Jess 2022-05-06 Document from the year 2018 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources - Employee Motivation, , language: English, abstract: No industry has such difficulties in finding staff as nursing. Nursing professions currently have a negative image. Many young people therefore decide against training in this field. Also, trained nurses often change jobs and look for jobs outside of the industry. The reasons for this can often be found in management. In her publication, Jessica Jess shows how important the flow of communication and information is, as well as the appreciation of work performance. In the care sector in particular, there is usually still a lot of catching up to do. The author therefore examines the dissatisfaction of employees in nursing homes. She filters out potential problems and develops solutions. Jess explains in a practical way how employees can be motivated without financial incentives. From the content: - Care; - Job dissatisfaction; - Demotivation; - Motivation; - Nursing professions

Control of Price Related Terms in Standard Form Contracts Yeşim M. Atamer 2019-11-19 This book explores various approaches around the world regarding price term control, and particularly discusses the effectiveness of two major paths: ex ante regulatory and ex post judicial intervention. Price control and its limits are issues that affect all liberal market economies, as well as more regulated markets. For the past several years, courts in many different countries have been confronted with the issue of whether, and to what extent, they should intervene regarding price-related terms in standard form contracts – especially in the area of consumer contracts. Open price clauses, flat remunerations, price adjustment clauses, clauses giving the seller/supplier the right to ask for additional payments, bundling or partitioning practices, etc.: a variety of price related terms are used to manipulate customers' choices, often also by exploiting their behavioral biases. The result is an unfavorable contract that is later challenged in court. However, invalidating a given price term in standard forms e.g. of a banking or utilities contract only has an inter partes effect, which means that in thousands if not millions of similar contracts, the same clauses continue to be used. Effective procedural rules are often lacking. Therefore, pricing patterns that serve to hide rather than to reveal the real cost of goods and services require special attention on the part of regulators. The aim of this book is to determine the various approaches in the world regarding price term control, and particularly to discuss the efficiency of both paths, ex ante regulatory and ex post judicial intervention. Thanks to its broad comparative analysis, this book offers a thorough overview of the methods employed in several countries. It gathers twenty-eight contributions from national rapporteurs and one supra-national rapporteur (EU) to the 2018 IACL Congress held in Fukuoka. These are supplemented by a general report presented at the same IACL Congress, which includes a comparative analysis of the national and supranational reports. The national contributors hail from around the globe, including Africa (1), Asia (5), Europe (17), the European Union (1) and the Americas (5).
