Defending and Parenting Children Who Learn Differently Scott Teel 2007-05-30 Teel incorporates the fascinating story of Nancy Edison's love for her son Thomas, who had been labeled unteachable, then presents us with the wider array of and issues for children who learn differently. We all know Thomas Edison was a genius of seemingly limitless imagination. Yet few know he was a failure in elementary school. Teel shows us how Edison's mother, Nancy, guided the boy deemed a dunce by officials—even assumed mentally retarded by his father—to become one of the greatest inventors of all time. Edison's progressive and imaginative teaching methods hold lessons even today for all children who learn differently from conventional methods, as well as for the parents and teachers who care about them. Teel also explains how parents can negotiate the educational maze created by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB). An Individualized Education Program is explained in detail, and options such as enlisting the assistance of a professional advocate are also discussed. The latest research about current medication therapies and the origins plus potential benefits of ADHD are reviewed. A leading professional advocate explains what every parent needs to know about the public school system. Other topics addressed include the effectiveness of home schooling and parental and student rights. An extensive list of local and national resources is also offered.

Teaching Students with Learning Problems Cecil D. Mercer 1985

Math Skills by Objectives Cambridge Adult Education 1988-03 Math Skills by Objectives teaches basic math skills and shows students how to apply the skills they have learned to their daily lives. This three-volume program is organized by learning objectives -- subskill by subskill -- so that both students and teachers know exactly what their goals are. The evenly paced, methodical style of instruction develops student confidence and mastery so students never go on to a new subskill or skill unless they have mastered the previous one. Book 3 reviews the basic math operations taught in Book 1 but at a more advanced level.
