Exploring Chemistry (Loose-Leaf) Matthew Johll 2012-05-04 Matthew Johll's Exploring Chemistry covers the standard topics for the nonmajors course in the typical order, but each chapter unfolds in the context of a single case study that helps students connect what they are learning to real-life situations. For example, students work through the often-difficult topics of molecular structure, gas laws, and organic chemistry by learning about the development of powerful new chemotherapy drugs, new technologies for screening airline passengers, and the creation of biodegradable biopolymers. It's the same case-driven approach that Johll uses in his acclaimed Investigating Chemistry (now in its Third Edition) but Exploring Chemistry goes beyond the other book's specific focus on examples from forensic science to use real-life stories from cooking, athletics, genetics, green chemistry, and more.

Discover Biology Michael Lee Cain 2009 Discover Biology helps students become biologically literate students--to progress from science to scientific literacy.

Investigating Chemistry Matthew Johll 2008-12-22 In its new second edition, Investigating Chemistry: A Forensic Science Perspective remains the only book that uses the inherently fascinating topics of crime and criminal investigations as a context for teaching the fundamental chemical concepts most often covered in an introductory nonmajors course. Covering all the standard topics, Matthew Johll capitalizes on the surge of interest in the scientific investigation of crime (as sparked by CSI and other television shows), bringing together the theme of forensic science and the fundamentals of chemistry in ways that are effective and accessible for students. This edition features refined explanations of the chemical concepts, which are the core of the book, as well as a more thoroughly integrated forensic theme, updated features, and an expanded media/supplements package.

Peer-Led Team Learning David Gosser 2006 "The Workshop Program is a collaboration of teachers, learning specialists, and students that develops and implements a Peer-Led Team Learning model of teaching science. Students who have done well in the course are selected and trained for leadership roles. These peer leaders guide the work of teams of 6-8 students to solve carefully structured problems in weekly Workshop sessions." --

Institutional Impact Measurement in Higher Education Elvira G. Rincon-Flores 2026-04-30 Institutional Impact Measurement in Higher Education is a critical field that addresses the need for improved and strengthened educational processes. Higher education institutions worldwide are increasingly implementing innovative projects and initiatives aimed at solving context-based problems. The measurement of the impact of these initiatives is essential to determine their effectiveness and to facilitate evidence-based decision-making by key leaders such as full professors, administrators, deans, and department heads. Despite the growing recognition of its importance, there are still significant gaps in understanding the best practices for impact measurement, the most effective methodologies, and the ways in which these measurements can be used to inform strategic decisions. Recent studies have highlighted the potential of both quantitative and qualitative approaches, yet there remains a need for more comprehensive and methodologically rigorous research to fully understand the impact of educational initiatives. This research topic aims to compile studies that use various methodological and theoretical approaches to contribute to the understanding of impact measurement in Higher Education. These studies should provide results that can be used to strengthen or improve educational processes or initiatives within higher education institutions. By doing so, the research aims to offer valuable insights and methodological ideas to the scientific community interested in impact measurement, ultimately aiding in strategic decision-making by different stakeholders. To gather further insights into the boundaries of impact measurement in higher education, we welcome articles addressing, but not limited to, the following themes: - Measuring the Impact of Educational Technology - Measuring the Impact of Innovative Educational Strategies - Measuring the Impact of Educational Initiatives - Measuring Impact on Teacher Training Initiatives - Methodologies for Impact Measurement - Use of Technology for Data Collection and Impact Measurement
