Primary Source Pearson Education, Inc.
2007-12-28 Are you interested in supplementing your World History survey course with a collection of text documents and visual sources - all on an easy to use DVD Rom? The revised and updated Primary Source Documents in World History provides both a rich collection of textual and visual documents in World history and an indispensable tool for working with sources. Extensively developed with the guidance of historians and teachers of world history, this collection provides over 350 text documents in global history and nearly 500 visual sources. Many of the visual sources-ranging from early stone tools to medieval world maps to twenty-first century satellite imagery-are available in digital format for the first time and can be closely examined using a zoom function. All sources are accompanied by headnotes and focus questions and are searchable by theme, region, time period, or textbook in use. In addition, an interactive tutorial, "Reading Primary Sources," guides students through the process of working with documents through a four-step process: 1. analyzing authorship 2. determining audience 3. identifying argument 4. historical significance

Milestone Documents in World History 2010 Contains twenty-nine full-text primary source documents that provide insights into important events in world history, each with an overview, context, time line, biographical profile of the author, explanation and analysis, quotes, and other resources; arranged chronologically from 1942 to 2000.

The Heritage of World Civilizations Albert M. Craig 2005-03 For undergraduate level World Civilization or World History courses. This comprehensive, accessible survey of world history has been extensively revised to provide an even more global and comparative perspective on the events and processes that have shaped our increasingly interdependent world. Written by leading scholars in their respective fields, Heritage of World Civilizations, 7/e, combines unusually strong and thorough coverage of the unique heritage of Asian, African, Islamic, Western, and American civilizations, while highlighting the role of the world's great religious and philosophical traditions.

Teaching American History in a Global Context Carl J. Guarneri 2015-07-17 This comprehensive resource is an invaluable teaching aid for adding a global dimension to students' understanding of American history. It includes a wide range of materials from scholarly articles and reports to original syllabi and ready-to-use lesson plans to guide teachers in enlarging the frame of introductory American history courses to an international view. The contributors include well-known American history scholars as well as gifted classroom teachers, and the book's emphasis on immigration, race, and gender points to ways for teachers to integrate international and multicultural education, America in the World, and the World in America in their courses. The book also includes a 'Views from Abroad' section that examines problems and strategies for teaching American history to foreign audiences or recent immigrants. A comprehensive, annotated guide directs teachers to additional print and online resources.

Encounters in World History: From 1500

Thomas Sanders 2005 History is an encounter with the past, and the past is a history of encounters. Encounters in World History is designed to introduce students to both of these sorts of encounters. Using primary and visual sources, the authors employ the encounter theme as a fundamental organizing principle. By nesting sources in thematically integrated chapters, comparison and analysis of sources can be more substantive, while also providing more internal structure for instructors. At the same time, this is a world history reader, and it follows a chronological format. The material has been presented in such a way that instructors can craft their own courses, emphasizing the aspects they think most important. Chapters are organized so that the general theme is presented in a chapter introduction and then revisited in the separate introductions to specific readings. The readers can be used to highlight preferred eras, cultural zones, or themes, or a unique mixture of all three.

The Best of History Web Sites Thomas

Daccord 2007 Educator and technology trainer Thomas Daccord has painstakingly selected and compiled this guide to the best history sites for use in high school, academic, and public libraries. "The Best of History Web Sites" is the quickest path to a rich variety of content, including multimedia presentations, subject gateways, lesson plans and activities, primary resources, interactive quizzes and games, virtual tours, maps and atlases, statistical collections, and more.

The World's History Howard Spodek 2001 A true exploration of world history, this text presents world history through an analysis of eight chronological turning points seen through the prisms of eight different themes -- origins, cities, empires, religion, trade, migrations, revolutions, and technology. Focusing throughout on three major questions -- What do we know? How do we know it? What difference does it make? -- it helps readers make sense of the immensity of human historical experience -- the most significant activities, accomplishments and failures -- throughout the world, from earliest times to the present. Volumes I and II cover the following turning points--human origins and human cultures: 5 million B.C.E. - 10,000 B.C.E, The first cities 10,000 B.C.E. - 1000 C.E, Empire and Imperialism: 2300 B.C.E. - 1100 C.E, the rise of world religions: 600 B.C.E. - 1500 C.E, world trade: 1100 - 1776 C.E, migration 1500-1750, social change: 1688-1914 and exploding technologies: 1914-1900s. For individuals interested in a comprehensive, yet manageable presentation of world history.

Berkshire Encyclopedia of World History 2005 "A comprehensive encyclopedia of world history with 538 articles that trace the development of human history -- with a focus on area studies, global history, anthropology, geography, science, arts, literature, economics, women's studies, African-American studies, and cultural studies related to all regions of the world"--Provided by publisher.

The World's History Since 1100 Howard Spodek 2000 For introductory level courses in World History. A true exploration of world history, this text presents world history through an analysis of eight chronological turning points seen through the prisms of eight different themes origins, cities, empires, religion, trade, migrations, revolutions, and technology. Focusing throughout on three major questions What do we know? How do we know it? What difference does it make? it helps students make sense of the immensity of human historical experience the most significant activities, accomplishments and failures throughout the world, from earliest times to the present. Rich in primary sources both written and visual and in data and interpretation, it addresses how historians form, debate, and revise our historical understanding of the world, shows the value of other disciplines in understanding history, and helps students begin to assess their own place in the ongoing history of the world.
