On the Way to Nineveh George M. Landes 1999 This book was conceived as a tribute to Dr. George M. Landes on the occasion of his retirement as a longtime professor of Hebrew Bible at Union Seminary and as Secretary at the American Schools of Oriental Research. The theme of the volume grows out of George's career long commitment to the study and teaching of biblical languages and biblical archaeology.

Contributors were asked to address the place of these methods of philology and archaeology in biblical studies today, and to reflect upon how their own work either depends on or has moved in reliance on these methods. The topic is timely, since the place of these methods, which were championed by George's teacher, W. F. Albright, is currently under scrutiny and reevaluation in biblical studies. Book jacket.
