Continuous as an adjective means “unbroken” or “without interruption” (a continuous line).

Continual as an adjective means “repeated frequently” (continual complaints). Continual refers to events or actions that occur repeatedly over a period of time, with intervals in between. Continuous, on the other hand, describes events or actions that go on without any breaks or interruptions. A continuous process or event continues for a period of time without stopping. Residents report that they heard continuous gunfire. The continuous form of a verb is used to show that the action is continuing. In English, it is formed with the verb “be” followed by a present participle (= the -ing form of a verb): continual, continuous, constant, incessant, perpetual, perennial mean characterized by continued occurrence or recurrence. continual often implies a close prolonged succession or recurrence. If something is continuous, it happens all the time without stopping, or seems to do so. For example, if you say 'There was continual rain', you mean that it rained often. The adjective continuous describes something that occurs over space or time without interruption. Some computer fans make a continuous noise — a constant buzz — that can drive you to distraction.
