Community Education, from Program to Process to Practice

Jack D. Minzey 1979
Foundation Concepts of Global Community Health Promotion and Education

Barbara Hernandez 2011-08-24
Foundation Concepts of Global Community Health Promotion and Education examines the underlying concepts appropriate in any global community health promotion and education course. It investigates the history, terminology, philosophy, theory, ethics, programs, resources, and settings for the practice of community health education and promotion. The roles and responsibilities of health promotion practitioners are also explored in detail, as are the many employment opportunities for health education and health promotion professionals.

Career Pathways in Adult Education Catherine H.

Monaghan 2023-12-14
Career Pathways in Adult Education showcases the wide-ranging possibilities for a satisfying career in the field of adult education. Along with practical advice for launching and advancing a career in adult education, this book includes personal stories and insights from adult education professionals which focus on the research, practices, programs, and services within multiple industries. Divided into two parts, the book begins by examining transferable skills that adult educators need to be successful in any adult education career. Chapters in the second part focus on specific career opportunities for those with adult education backgrounds, including discussions around career lifecycle from entry to advancement, career development, and future trends. Written by active practitioners in adult education, chapters are designed to be practical, informative, and thought-provoking regarding career entry, progression, development, and advancement. A truly one-of-a-kind text, Career Pathways in Adult Education is the ideal companion for students and professionals looking to transition into adult education as well as graduate program administrators who wish to share the importance of their programs.

A Study of Policy, Organisation and Provision in Community Education and Leisure and Recreation in Three Scottish Regions David J. Alexander 1984 This document describes a study conducted to examine the effectiveness and efficiency of the provision of leisure and recreation services and community education services in selected areas of the Tayside, Central, and Fife Regions of Scotland. The 18-month-long study gathered 826 responses from 1,060 questionnaires issued in order to study the linkages between the two services and the scope of services of each. This report is organized in four parts containing a total of 14 chapters. Part I provides an introduction to the study, historical background, and an explanation of the methodology and structure of the report. Part II contains an overall view of developments in community education and leisure and recreation, and Part III presents a series of case studies of some of the work within these areas. Covered are community centers, adult basic education, informal further/adult education, community development, a district sports center and swimming pool, sports development, the Countryside Ranger Services, and arts development in Fife and Tayside. Part IV is the final Chapter 14, which provides a summary and analysis of the major findings of the research. References and appendices that contain the questionnaire and details on the research are included. (KC)
