Community Health Workers: Describing the Breadth of Interventions and Contexts

Across the World Mathieu Nacher 2025-05-15 Social inequalities in health remain a challenging problem throughout the world. Despite a variety of specific contexts, vulnerable populations often present to care later with more advanced health problems, and often greater fatality rates, at younger ages. To remediate this, health services NGOs project personnel to liaise with the communities and serve as an intermediary between health professionals and patients from vulnerable populations. The denominations may vary (health mediation, cultural mediation, community health workers, Agente de Saúde...) and sometimes entail different functions. Hard evidence on the impact of these "mediators" is often lacking because of the differences in contexts, specific health problems considered, and what "mediation" entails in different countries. In this Research Topic, we encourage submissions of articles that describe a range of experiences for different contexts where "mediation" (health mediation, cultural mediation, community health workers, Agente de Saúde...) programmes are deployed for public health issues. From this variety of experiences we hope this special issue will constitute a precious repository of experiences and contexts that could be transferable and scalable interventions for others.

Behavioral Medicine A Guide for Clinical Practice 4/E Mitchell D. Feldman 2014-07-06 The #1 guide to behavioral issues in medicine Thorough, practical discussion of the full scope of the physician-patient relationship The goal of Behavioral Medicine is to help practitioners and students understand the interplay between psychological, physical, social and cultural issues of patients. Within its pages you will find real-world coverage of behavioral and interactional issues that occur between provider and patient in everyday clinical practice. You will learn how to deliver bad news, how to conduct an effective patient interview, how to care for patients at the end of life, how to clinically manage common mental and behavioral issues in medical patients, the principles of medical professionalism, motivating behavior change, and much more. As the leading text on the subject, this trusted classic delivers the most definitive, practical overview of the behavioral, clinical, and social contexts of the physician-patient relationship. The book is case based to reinforce learning through real-world examples, focusing on issues that commonly arise in everyday medical practice and training. One of the significant elements of Behavioral Medicine is the recognition that the wellbeing of physicians and other health professionals is critically important to caring for patients. Enhanced by new and updated content throughout, Behavioral Medicine provides insight and information not available anywhere else for those who seek to provide comprehensive high-quality care for patients. And it does so in a way that acknowledges patients as people who have problems that often go far beyond the reach of traditional medical care.

Guidelines for Training Community Health Workers in Nutrition World Health Organization 1981 Designed for trainers of community health workers, these guidelines are intended to help them instruct, in a practical way, those workers in how to improve nutrition in their areas. The book is divided into nine modules, each concerned with a different aspect of the community health worker's training. Each module first sets forth the learning objectives, then describes the content of the training, and finally gives a number of exercises to test the trainee's learning. The book is illustrated with numerous line drawings and charts. Topics covered in the modules are (1) getting to know the community and its needs; (2) measuring and monitoring the growth and nutrition of children; (3) breast-feeding; (4) diets for young children; (5) nutrition of the mother; (6) identification, management, and prevention of common nutritional deficiencies; (7) diarrhea and nutrition; (8) nutrition and infection; and (9) nutrition and the community: getting started. An annex, "Training Hints," explains how to plan training, selection and use of teaching aids, choice of teaching methods, and how to collect information on the community. (YLB)
