Advanced History is a series which supports the AS and A-Levels starting September 2000. The series provides coverage of all the most popular topics, so you can cover the whole of the specification with up-to-date resources. Each book begins with an AS-level section which is very accessible, dealing with narrative and explanation of the topic. There are extra notes, biography boxes and definitions in the margin and summary boxes to help students assimilate the information. This should help them make the transition from GCSE to A-level. The second section reflects the different demands of the higher level examination by concentrating on analysis and historians' interpretations of the material covered in the AS sections. This text concentrates on the Cold War.

Reading Through History: the Cold War

Robert Marshall 2012-09-12 The Cold War from Reading Through History is a collaborative effort of two Oklahoma classroom teachers with more than twenty-five years of teaching experience at the secondary level. It is intended to be a resource manual for teachers and parents that would make an excellent accompaniment for any history or reading class, whether in a public school, private school, or home school environment. The Cold War includes many tools to help teachers and parents facilitate their children's learning experience as they read. The guide features historical lessons related to a wide range of topics from the Cold War Era, including the Rise and Fall of Communism in Russia, Containment, the Red Scare, the Chinese Civil War, the Korean and Vietnam Conflicts, home front Civil Defense, the Cuban Missile Crisis, spies of the Cold War Era, the Space Race, and the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks.

Many of the activities included in the workbook are geared toward guided reading exercises and independent student responses with the Core Curriculum skills in mind. Exercises in vocabulary help to reinforce each lesson, while free response questions challenge students to consider each historical topic in new ways, and in many cases, consider how they would have reacted, or would react, if placed in similar situations.

Literacy and Learning in the Content Areas
Sharon Kane 2017-07-05 The 3rd Edition of Literacy & Learning in the Content Areas helps readers build the knowledge, motivation, tools, and confidence they need as they integrate literacy into their middle and high school content area classrooms. Its unique approach to teaching content area literacy actively engages preservice and practicing teachers in reading and writing and the very activities that they will use to teach literacy to their own students in middle and high school classrooms. Rather than passively learning about strategies for incorporating content area literacy activities, readers get hands-on experience in such techniques as mapping/webbing, anticipation guides, booktalks, class websites, and journal writing and reflection. Readers also learn how to integrate children's and young adult literature, primary sources, biographies, essays, poetry, and online content, communities, and websites into their classrooms. Each chapter offers concrete teaching examples and practical suggestions to help make literacy relevant to students' content area learning. Author Sharon Kane demonstrates how relevant reading, writing, speaking, listening, and visual learning activities can improve learning in content area subjects and at the same time help readers meet national content knowledge standards and benchmarks.
